ORGANIC FARMING CONFERENCE

MARBLESEED ORGANIC FARMING CONFERENCE ICE RESPONSE PLAN

There is no place for ICE in our food system or at our conference. Marbleseed stands in solidarity with immigrant communities today and every day.

Marbleseed is committed to creating a safe and welcoming environment for everyone at our events, including the annual Organic Farming Conference. Our staff has been working closely with partners, the venue, and regional organizers to update and strengthen our response plan. Staff are trained and prepared to respond if needed.

If you need assistance or see something concerning during the conference, please reach out to our staff, board members, or volunteers. They will be wearing, respectively, yellow, black, or green ribbons for easy identification. Additionally, staff will be monitoring our main office phone while we are onsite; text (preferred) or call 715-778-5775.

Marbleseed has been working with @iceoutcoulee organizers to monitor ICE activity in the greater La Crosse area leading up to and during the conference. They manage public reporting and monitoring via their Instagram and Facebook. Follow @iceoutcoulee on Instagram or Facebook for updates or to report suspicious activity while traveling in the region.

Marbleseed along with regional organizers in La Crosse have set up a Signal group for attendees to receive alerts of any confirmed ICE activity during the conference. There will be both conference staff and local organizers that will be admins for this group. The alert-only group is updated by admins who will post notifications if there is confirmed ICE activity in the area during the conference. Note: You must download the Signal app to join the private Signal messaging group.
